

Biography – Dave Gregory

Appointed President & CEO of First Calgary Savings in 1992, Dave Gregory has over 30 years of banking and financial experience. Dave's philosophy is that, "true success lies within our ability to create sustained, mutually beneficial relationships that exceed expectations – for our member/owners, our employees and our communities."

Dave has received numerous professional designations, including being a founding member of the Canadian Institute of Bankers. He has been a leader in the credit union national initiative and currently sits on a number of public and private boards. His dedication to the Calgary community is evident through his commitment to several community-based boards and the leadership role he has played in many past and current community investment programs.

Dave and his wife Gail have three children and three grandchildren. Both Dave and Gail enjoy time with their family, outdoor activities and playing an active role in their community.
